INTRODUCTION

WHAT YOUR PROFILE IS FOR

A profile has one job: to give a stranger a real, friendly reason to message you. It does not have to be perfect, and it does not have to impress everyone.

Be recent	Photos from the last year or two.
Be specific	Details beat adjectives. "Weekend hiker" says more than "adventurous".
Be honest	Age, height, looks. Lies come out on the first date.
Be easy to message	End with a question that is simple to answer.

In a 2023 Pew survey of online daters (all ages), 64% of men said they felt insecure about getting too few messages. You are not alone, and a clearer profile is one thing you control.

A NOTE ON EVIDENCE

This guide uses general dating-profile advice and common sense. There is little research on profiles for men over 40, and none that I found on how baldness changes match rates, so treat everything here as practical guidance, not a guarantee. It is not therapy, medical advice or a promise of results.

YOUR PHOTO PLAN

Aim for 4 to 6 photos that show different sides of you.

- [ ] A clear, smiling headshot (main photo).
- [ ] A full-body photo, so nobody is surprised.
- [ ] You doing something you enjoy (hiking, cooking, music, a hobby).
- [ ] You with friends or at an event (only if you are easy to spot).
- [ ] A relaxed, candid smile.
- [ ] Optional: a pet, travel or a place that matters to you.

LEAVE OUT

- ✕ Old photos, or heavy filters.
- ✕ Sunglasses or a hat in every photo.
- ✕ Group shots where it is hard to tell which one is you.
- ✕ Mirror selfies, shirtless photos, car selfies.
- ✕ Photos with an ex, even cropped.

STEP 2

LIGHT, ANGLE AND A CLEAN LOOK

Soft light	Face a window or stand in open shade. Avoid harsh overhead light.
Eye level	Have someone hold the camera at eye level, not from below.
Smile with your eyes	Think of something that makes you laugh.
Simple background	Tidy and uncluttered.
Groomed	Tidy head and beard, clean clothes that fit.
Shine	A shaved head can reflect light. Blot with a tissue or use a matte moisturiser before photos.

TRY THIS

Ask a friend to take 20 photos in soft light. Pick the best 3.

FOR BALD MEN

OWN IT, DO NOT HIDE IT

Studies on how people see bald men are mixed, and I found no real-world data on match rates by hair status. What is practical:

Show your head	In the main photo, no hat. Hiding in every picture can read as insecurity.
Look deliberate	A clean shave or tidy short cut looks intentional. A neat beard can frame the face.
Do not apologise	Skip "yes, I am bald" in your bio. A light, confident line is fine, but it should not be the headline.
Let personality lead	Warmth, humour and interests give her something to respond to.

ILLUSTRATIVE LINES (OPTIONAL, ADAPT TO YOU)

> Easy to spot in a crowd. Great at finding the best coffee in any town.

> Zero hair, plenty of opinions about breakfast.

STEP 3

THE BIO FORMULA

Two to four short sentences. Use this order:

1. Who you are	One line: what you do or how you spend your time.
2. What you enjoy	Two or three specific things.
3. What you are looking for	Honest and positive.
4. An easy question	Something she can answer in a line.

ILLUSTRATIVE EXAMPLE

> Weekend hiker, terrible cook, decent listener. I enjoy live music, long walks and finding the best coffee in town. Looking for someone to laugh with and explore new places. Tell me the best meal you have had this year.

- ✕ Negativity: "no drama", "no games", long lists of dislikes.
- ✕ Complaining about exes.
- ✕ Lying about age or height.
- ✕ Copying someone else's bio.

PROMPT ANSWERS TO ADAPT

Many apps ask for short answers to prompts. Specific and warm beats clever. (Illustrative, not sourced.)

A perfect weekend	"A long walk, a good coffee, and no alarm. Add a live band and it is perfect."
I am looking for	"Someone kind who enjoys a good conversation."
Two truths and a lie	"I have run a marathon. I can cook. I have never been to Paris. Guess."
The way to win me over	"Make me laugh and tell me about your favourite place."
A fact about me	"I know the lyrics to every song from 1985."
Together we could	"Find the best breakfast spot in the city."

RULE

Every answer should give someone something to reply to.

STEP 4

SAFETY ON YOUR PROFILE

- [ ] No home address, workplace or phone number.
- [ ] No financial details, ever.
- [ ] Use first name or a nickname only.
- [ ] Check that your social media is private or limited.
- [ ] Be wary of anyone who rushes you to another app or asks for money.
