A GUIDED WORKBOOK · FREE SAMPLE

From Self-Doubt to Self-Trust

Understand the voice that holds you back, and build the quiet confidence that moves you forward, one honest page at a time.

FREE SAMPLE: LESSON 1

FEATURING ADRIAN COLE · 13 GUIDED LESSONS · 14-DAY TRACKER

LESSON 1 · FREE SAMPLE

The Voice Isn't a Fact

Self-doubt sounds like the truth for one simple reason: it is the voice you have listened to the longest. It says "you're not ready", "they'll think it's stupid", "everyone else has it figured out", and after years of hearing it, it feels like a fact.

It isn't. It is a habit of thought, and a habit can be tested.

> Your goal today is not to silence the voice. It is to stop letting it make your decisions. Doubt can ride along. It just doesn't get the wheel.

1

Catch it 2 MIN

Write down three doubts you told yourself this week, word for word, exactly the way the voice says them.

2

Test it 2 MIN

Next to each one write F if it is a Fact you can prove, R if it is a Fear about what might happen, or H if it is an old Habit of thought. Most doubts turn out to be fears and habits.

3

Rewrite it 1 MIN

Turn each one into: "I notice I'm thinking _____. What is one small step I can take anyway?"

YOUR FIRST REP

One small step today

Self-trust is built the way a muscle is built: with small reps, not big motivation. Pick one and do it in the next five minutes.

- ✓ Send the message you keep rewriting, in its rough version.
- ✓ Say one opinion out loud that you would normally swallow.
- ✓ Make one small decision without asking anybody.

It does not have to go well. It only has to happen. That is the rep.

DAY 1 TRACKER

TODAY'S DATE

THE DOUBT I CAUGHT

FACT, FEAR OR HABIT?

THE SMALL REP I DID

HOW IT FELT AFTER (1 TO 5)

YOU JUST DID LESSON 1

You don't have to be your own worst critic.

This guided workbook is your safe space to slow down, get honest with yourself, and rebuild the trust you've been missing, one honest page at a time.

13		14
GUIDED LESSONS	PRACTICAL EXERCISES	DAY TRACKER

Your mind is not the enemy.
It's just been through a lot.

GET THE FULL WORKBOOK →

adraincole.gumroad.com/l/self-doubt-to-self-trust

ADRIAN COLE · SELF-TRUST · GROWTH · A BETTER YOU